Tickled by Light

Rambunctious Excursions into Chakra Psychology

Orchestrated by Evan Hodkins

Featuring the Music of

Pamela Robinson & Michael Kusmas

Present day discussions of the chakras are either exaggeratedly fluffy or categorically pedantic. Aren't you ready for something robust and daring, something drizzled in archetypal wonderment, inter-dimensionality, phenomenological profundity, and everyday applicability? Behold the lively interplay of whirling lights! Chakra theory accords us perhaps the most comprehensive developmental model for the stages of spiritual unfoldment. Add a dash of kundalini, and all the vortices start to glow. And, oh my, what about that longing--to actually find yourself in relationships with other beings who likewise have all their wheels firing.

If ever you desired a comprehensive understanding of the soul ascendancy toward bliss, this little playshop is precisely for you. Besides that, working with the chakras is one of the most effective means of releasing karma. Way beyond our reductionistic attempts to pretzelize the body, yoga is a vast constellar system percolating with cosmic delights.

This entire event, by the way, is sprinkled with sacred chant, featuring the music of Evan Hodkins, Pamela Robinson, & Michael Kusmas.

Kindly bring along a foam pad or sleeping bag suitable for mild forms of yogic meditation.
